Paramount Bray Cartoon #31

Fanciful Fiddlesticks, a small boy very fond of Fairy-tales, goes with his Uncle Wisdom into the woods. On the way Uncle takes a nut-sundae. On arriving in the woods, Uncle begins to read a fairy tale to Fanciful who immediately seems to recognize the exact tree, about which his uncle is reading. He imagines he sees the fairy-folk coming and going and out of mere curiosity decides to take a peek down the hole. He sees nothing- throws a stone into the hole when out reach old Stretch's hands and grab him and bear him down. The dog tells him not to be afraid and if he sticks around he will see some of the fairies. The Musicians and Dancers then pass. Uncle Wisdom having missed Fanciful stands calling. The dog scents the way to the tree where Uncle is grabbed and carried down. Uncle is then changed into an owl and Fanciful into a Frog and hops away. Uncle decides he's hungry and flies at Dr. Mouse to devour him, but instead the mouse swallows him. the Owl then finds himself at the end of the mouse's tail is dropped as mouse walks away. They then chase each other and Stretch deciding that the owl is not fit for Fairyland, turns him into his real self-Uncle Wisdom and pokes him out of the ground. Uncle shoved thro' the sod is dumbfounded. When out come Fanciful and his dog. On recovering Uncle says "I had no right to take that nut sundae!" As they are about to leave the woods, Stretch waves goodbye to Fanciful and writes this message on his hand- "Till We Meet Again."
